"Gee, the fences in this park are short. ain't they?" ain't they?"
"No one ever accused me of breaking any of them," replied Burns.
Then they put a uniform on Gandy and sent him into batting practice. The first ball pitched to him Gandy slammed against the right field fence. Red Sox President Repudiates Re-

MAMMAUX GREAT PITCHING FIND

Boston, Oct. 14.—Joseph J. Lannin, president of the Boston Red Sox, world baseball champions, today flatly denied a report that there is friction between him and Ban Johnson, president of the American League, and that he had been ordered to sell his club and get out of baseball. Al Mammaux ranks as the greatest pitcher uncovered since Walter Johnson and Grover Alexander answered the call and Grover Alexander answered the call of the majors. Some folks, pointing to the relative merits of the trio, assert that the record of the youthful Pirate phenom is better than that of any gent that ever the American League assigned to the flipped a fin on a ball field.

The report arose from an alieged criticism of Lannin's that the umpires from the American League assigned to the flipped a fin on a ball field.

UMPIRE HURST'S STORY WITH TIM THE GOAT

One of the stories the late Tim Hurst used to delight to tell was one in which he was comething of the goat. Tim hased John McGraw from a game one lay because he was using language that vasn't exactly "pretty;" after the game JcGraw hunted up Tim.

"Say, you," he remarked, "what would ou do to me if I said this to you?" And hen McGraw rolled off a few names hat can't be repeated in this family pa-

"I have seen many ball clubs in action during my years of servitude in the Na-tional League, but I have never seen one that shows greater promise than th

Giants," said Christy Mathewson after the last series between the Giants and the Cincinnati Reds, "The players are brimful of confidence The players are brimtul of connence and McGraw has succeeded in getting together a combination that should be a contender throughout the next campaign in the National League. The infield is one of the strongest in baseball. Of this here can be no doubt. With Robertson Kauff and Burns in the outfield it has been strong all season, except for the fact that 'Benny' was a bit slow in find-ing himself. With Bariden and McCarty behind the bat the catching departmen presents a substantial front.
"The measure of success the Giants meet with next year, then, should de-

A week or so went by the description of a decision against the Giants on a close play. Furious, Mcraw rushed at Hurst and began to upbraid him. Hurst cautioned McGraw to be careful about his remarks, "or out you'll go." And then McGraw hissed at Hurst:
"Do you remember what I said to you the other night? Remember? Well, I'm thinking all that about you now. I'm thinking all that about you now. I'm thinking it—and just as hard as I can you know what I mean—but you can't do a thing to me, because I haven't said it to you on a ball field."

And McGraw, grinning, walked away.

The St. Louis Browns have on hand a new pitcher who would be quite an addition to the giants of the game after he wets his growth. So far he's only 18 years old and only a boy, but he stands six feet four inches and weighs 200 youngs. He halis from Austin College, of Sherman, Tex., and when Charley Barrett dug him up last June he weighed 175 youngs. Now, four months after, he weighs, as stated. 208.
